VARIED VIEWS FROM THE ALLIED WESTERN FRONT

AN "E" BOAT PEN is visible in the background on the right. This is a part of the harbor at Cherbourg, the big seaport the Allies captured in the battle of Normandy. The roofless warehouse was only a trifle in the general devastation.

GERMAN HOPES of retreating over the Seine by this important highway bridge were lost when U.S. army bombers spotted it. At that it was a rebuilt job. It was the second bridge on the site. Bombers had previously destroyed the first one.

SNIPERS are supposed to be smart fellows but these Germans captured near Troyes, France, are a bedraggled lot. They are waiting under guard to be moved to a prison camp. The sign on the wall behind the jeep says in French 'No Parking.'

BELGIAN girls and youths in a slit trench blow kisses to Allied troops as they come into Brussels' suburbs, hard on the heels of the retreating Germans.

IN ONE NIGHT this self-propelled 105-mm. howitzer used this pile of shells near the Siegfried line. It is all set to continue its borragge during daylight.

GERMAN ARTILLERY was firing only a few miles away from this peaceful shoving scene in a trench on the site of an Allied airdrome under construction.

TWO medical workers thread their way through this rubble of bricks and concrete in a street in France. Note the steel doors ripped off by the heavy shelling.

THIS IS all that's left of a Nazi transport fleet when it was bombed by "heavies" somewhere in France. Railway cars and loading cranes stand close by, unscathed.

THE ONCE-BOASTFUL promise of the British popular song is being fulfilled here as a member of the R.A.F. nonchalantly hangs his washing on the Siegfried line.

DESIGNED to be dropped by the plane after its supply of gas has been exhausted, this fuel tank, made of pressed paper, was found by Royal Air Force fliers at a captured Nazi airfield in Belgium. Made of cheap materials, the tank can be discarded at a minor cost.

A FREAK attraction at the New York world's fair, this seven-foot-three-inch Nazi is symbolic of militaristic Nazi Germany; for in spite of his ability to look down on his fellowmen from a great height, he's now on the way to prison camp for the duration.

SEEMINGLY HAPPY about the whole thing are these German prisoners behind barbed wire. In this compound there are nearly 20,000 Germans who surrendered and are now spending their idle time awaiting shipment to camps. They were captured by U.S. army troops.

REINFORCED steel and concrete construction proved inadequate to hold these U-boat pens at Brest when bombed by planes of the R.A.F.

THESE MAGINOT GUNS fired some 600 shells, bearing the German Krupp trademark, at fleeing Nazis. They were manned by U.S. troops.

TWO FRENCHWOMEN search for what remains of their belongings in their crumbled homestead in battered Brest. Note new mattresses.

AMID BURNT-OUT, shell-scarred buildings the crew of a Bren gun carrier stop for a breather and short chat. It's a Canadian army carrier.

CHINESE WREST TENGCHUNG FROM THE JAPANESE

USING A CRUDE FORM of the scaling ladder, these Chinese troops prepare to pour over the walls of Tengchung and wrest the city from the Japs. This city, formerly a jade centre, was the first one to be liberated by the Allies east of Burma.

HUDDLING LOW in slit trenches, Chinese soldiers wait to move up on Tengchung's city wall, as engineers blast holes in a 20-feet thick barricade at the rear of the dwelling in the foreground. Note the peasant's round field hat on the wall.

JUDGE WEN HSUEH-SHU, shown at right examining a prisoner, is one of the many new women judge graduates in China. They still amaze old farmers visiting court.

BADLY WOUNDED in the battle for Tengchung, Chinese soldiers await treatment at a makeshift station for first aid. Approximately 2,000 Japs, entrenched for a six-months' battle, were killed in hard fighting.

GIRL FIRE WARDEN KEEPS LONE VIGIL IN TREE TOP

EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD Nancy Pearson has a lonely job as a fire warden atop a big pine tree in the state of Washington. For company in her solitary cabin she has to rely on her Koala bear and other stuffed pets. Those are cougar rugs.

EIGHT TIMES a day Nancy presents this view as she climbs the 160 rungs to her look-out hut. Close by is her cabin which contains all the comforts of home.

HER TREE TOP sways in heavy winds and she needs a steady hand to use her binoculars to spot the smoke that tells the forest has been struck by lightning.

HERE'S HER EYRIE, perched on top a pine. At this height she is scarcely visible from the ground as she looks out her window. Note the cables bracing tree.

HELP YOURSELF TO

BREAD

1/4 of Canada's food energy comes from bread!

NO WONDER bread rates first in your wartime diet! Bread gives you plenty of extra energy to help you meet the strain of wartime living.

Today you're doing more. You are working harder at home. You are working harder on your job. Two slices of bread each meal are no longer enough to keep you going. You need at least three slices of energy-rich bread every meal for extra body fuel.

Bread is one of the best and the cheapest sources of energy there are. It's almost solid nutrition—your biggest energy food value in wartime.

Good, wholesome baker's bread supplies the lasting energy many other carbohydrates don't provide. And baker's bread is easily and quickly digested. Every crumb is utilized. There's no residue for the body to dispose of.

Make delicious, crispy-crust bread the starting point of every meal you plan. Serve it plain, toasted, in snacks, sandwiches, and in dozens of appetizing recipes.

Your whole family—especially the children—need energy-satisfying baker's bread. Eat plenty of it—at least three slices every meal.

Buy wartime energy from your baker

The bread your local baker supplies takes on added importance in wartime. It is one of the richest and cheapest sources of food-energy. And made with milk, or eaten with milk, it is an important source of protein for building and repairing muscles.

BE PROUD OF YOUR SHARE IN THESE BATTLE HONOURS!

THINK back to Canada's early Victory Loans when all was dark and the only light shining through was the faith and fighting spirit of the British peoples.

Every Canadian who bought Victory Bonds in that dark time... and kept on buying them... has a right to be proud of his or her share in the great victories now shining on every battlefield.

But the greatest and final Victory has yet to come. And just as our fighting lads have advanced from objective to objective, so we at home must neither fail nor falter in helping to win this greatest and final Victory. This is why Canada's Seventh Victory Loan is the most vital and significant in the history of this Dominion.

Most of us can buy at least one more Bond this year than before. So let's make this Victory Loan the greatest yet. Let's buy Victory Bonds to the point of sacrifice. Let's put every dollar we can spare behind our boys in their heroic and dogged determination to roll up the enemy's lines and keep hitting harder and harder until he capitulates in unconditional surrender.

LIFE CYCLE OF A BUTTERFLY

HERE'S the small egg attached to the underside of a milkweed plant. Eggs are smaller than the head of a pin.

THE caterpillar matures in about 12 days. Tiny black "horns" grow on its head and tail. Stripes ring its body.

WHEN chrysalis appears, the skin of caterpillar breaks down the back. It wriggles free by twisting and swinging.

SOME SAY a monarch chrysalis is a "green house with golden nails." It is now one of the wonders of nature.

A BEAUTIFUL butterfly now begins to emerge from the cellophane-appearing covering. Its feet push it out.

A REST is needed. The butterfly settles down for an hour or two for its wings to harden and strength increase.

U.S. TROOPS ADVANCE ALONG ROAD TO MANILA

THE JAPS DUG it. The marines occupy it. The enemy saved the boys some spade work as U.S. forces seized Peleliu island recently on the road to Manila.

THE ISLAND OF GUAM, a famous naval base in the Marianas, is once more in U.S. possession. The landing forces ran up the Stars and Stripes on the beach edge.

PACIFIC BEACHES are not won without a price. One soldier, wounded during landing operations, receives a sip from a sympathetic buddy's welcome water bottle.

OVER AND OVER again this scene has been repeated on Pacific beaches as U.S. forces take island after island. This landing was on New Guinea's north shore.

4-way help!

• In fighting a headache, you want quick action. And that means correcting faulty elimination! For many common headaches can be traced to constipation. The thing to do is get Andrews and get going!

There's more to WAX than meets the eye

Well-waxed furniture, floors, and woodwork present a gleaming surface that pleases the eye. But there's more to wax than looks and lustre. . . . as women can tell you. Wax gives surfaces unique protection against wear and abrasion . . . it is inert and does not oxidize at normal temperatures.

Just before this war, Industry's leaders began to realize what women had known all along—that wax will protect metal against corrosion and handling, leather, rubber, plastics and even paper against abrasion and moisture.

And when the men of Industry get an idea, they move fast. That's why today, Johnson's industrial waxes are being used on all kinds of surfaces to protect them against wear, on fabrics to make them stain-resistant and water-repellent . . . that is why Johnson's Wax-Fortified Paints are protecting fighting equipment wherever the Allies are fighting.

For the postwar manufacturer, there's a point to this and a promise. In a highly competitive market, products as large as a motor car or as small as a deck of cards will have more of the stuff that interests and holds a buyer—thanks to wax.

Remarkably easy to clean, and possessing high light-reflective properties, Johnson's Wax-Fortified Paints are a boon to maintenance men and production managers.

SEA FOOD UNLIMITED, HERE'S HOW IT'S CAUGHT

OYSTER FISHING is a painstaking occupation, depending largely on the weather. Fishermen use tongs to lift their catch from below the surface and the tongs are emptied on a board raft. This is a good supply being lifted out above and oysterman Roscoe Gould has enough of his delicacy to satisfy any gourmet. He wears high rubber boots.

SCALLOP FISHING is less glamorous than oyster angling and possibly less lucrative. Nobody ever finds pearls in scallops, but big catches are made off-shore and the scallops are then placed in large mesh bags and planted in shallow water where they are stored until used. Without bothering about pearls, scallop fishermen make a good living.

THE MEAT of the scallop is a soft, smooth muscle, milky white in appearance, which the fisherman is cutting out here. It takes a lot of scallops to complete a meal, but most sea towns permit a catch of five bushels daily, more than enough.

LUSTROUS, LOVELY HAIR
A MATTER OF LUCK?

"Not at all!" say girls who know this secret...

"I wish I could do something with my hair," you say. "I wash it regularly, comb and brush it as much as anyone—yet it always looks so dull and lifeless. I guess beautiful hair is just luck."

Don't you believe it! Get Danderine, and see the difference it can make in your hair's appearance—right from the first application. Sprinkled on comb or brush before you arrange your hair, it helps remove gummy film, adds lovely sheen, sets hair singing with shimmering highlights.

Notice, too, how Danderine helps remove every particle of loose dandruff. How easy your hair is to arrange and how much longer your wave lasts. Try Danderine today.

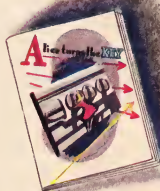

Men, too, like Danderine. It fights dandruff.

THEY'RE CULLING oysters by breaking off pieces of rock and old shell to streamline them for the table. They'll be graded by sizes.

EXCESS MUD and undersized oysters are dumped back. It takes three years to produce a mature oyster. They roam about when they're young.

A FAVORITE subject for artists is this row of lop-sided shacks in which fishermen shelter when it is too rough on the oyster beds.

AT THE END of these long tongs are two scoops which close around the oysters. Judging from the heap on the scow, the dredging is good.

TRAIL OF WAR IN ITALY

THIS CANADIAN armored vehicle has played a vital role in Italy. It feels out enemy positions, and wires back for reinforcements on finding weak spots.

THEIR BARRELS lawered to the ground, these British AA guns are being used in Italy to blast enemy installations. Heavy supplies of shells lie within easy reach.

GERMAN DEMOLITION crews sank these barges to deny the Allies use of the canal. But speedy repairs soon had traffic moving to the front lines of Italy.

GRIMY AND FOOTSORE, these German soldiers were taken prisoner at their machine-guns. Too tired to walk, they sprawled and slept on cold, hard concrete.

NO BOIL-AWAY!

For another winter, there can be no "Prestone" Anti-Freeze. The vital materials which go into its manufacture are still in short supply, because of war demands.

After Victory — "Prestone" Anti-Freeze will be back in unlimited quantities. By far the most popular anti-freeze in Canada—"Prestone" Anti-Freeze earned its outstanding position because of these unique advantages:

1. No freezing—down to 60° below zero.
2. One filling lasts all winter.
3. No evaporation—no boil-away.
4. Protection against rust and corrosion.
5. Economy—no 'additions' needed throughout an entire season.

THESE "LIFEBUOYS" BLAZE TRAIL THROUGH SIEGFRIED

TANKS BECOME twisted steel and heavily protected pill-boxes become smoking infernos when "flame-throwers" are brought into action. Here is the pack-type "Lifebuoy" which is a one-man flame-gun being used by advancing infantrymen. The weapon has been used with success in France by paratroops, commandos and infantry. The "Lifebuoy" squirts a 50-yard flame and was recently removed from the secret list.

TO TAKE PRECAUTIONS THAT'LL KEEP YOU ON THE JOB!

After all, you're not super-woman! You've got to take care of yourself on those "difficult days" if you're going to keep going! And everyone knows that nowadays you've got to keep going! So take it easy . . . and follow these hints. And forgive us if we point with pride to the fact that more women choose KOTEX than all other brands of sanitary pads put together, because KOTEX is a real help to women who want to keep going in comfort.

Do you exercise for cramps? Set-ups can be worth their weight in hot-water bottles to relieve ordinary cramps and congestion (and help posture and beauty, too). For directions send for the new booklet "That Day Is Here Again". Free with the compliments of KOTEX.

Do you get plenty of sleep? Sleep, sister sleep . . . at least eight hours. Plenty of shut-eye is always important not only now but every night. And after a hard day's work, stretch . . . yawn . . . relax . . . when you turn in. It helps unknot those tense muscles.

Do you take showers? Put showers on your "Do" list if they're warm ones (not cold, not hot). That goes for tub or sponge baths, too. Lake-warm water's not only relaxing . . . it's a daily "must". At this time, more than ever, when perspiration glands work overtime.

Send for it today!

Complete list of do's and don'ts

A lively, informative 24-page booklet "That Day Is Here Again" will be sent free, for the asking! It's chockful of valuable tips for difficult days, for older women, for when the stork's expected. Send name and address to Canadian Collocation Products Co. Ltd., Dept. K-13, 330 University Avenue, Toronto 1, Ontario.

MAKES COMFORT COMPLETE

Kotex Wonderform Belt will give you complete confidence. It holds Kotex securely with special patented clasps that are flat and inconspicuous. It's dainty, light, self-balancing, adjustable and pinkies. Price . . . 25c.

CANADIANS IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM

BOULOGNE FORMERLY was a great holiday resort, but it did not look that way after the Canadians took the town. Two of them fire a gun from a rubble heap.

HERE'S BOULOGNE again with a Canadian patrol going down a street that shows plenty of devastation.

CALAIS was another town Canadians fought for. The British helped with this shell for a gun in Dover.

GUNNERS R. D. White, Victoria, G. F. MacDonald, Frankford, Ont., pile captured French-made shells.

NAZIS SURRENDER EN MASSE TO CANADIANS, YANKS

HERE ARE A FEW, 2,000 to be exact, of the more than 50,000 Germans captured by the Canadians after their victory at Falaise and their mapping up of coastal towns such as Dieppe, Baulogne and Calais, as they advanced into Belgium. Those behind these barbed wire entanglements were taken in the fighting for Boulogne.

IN THE RIVER LOIRE area 19,000 Nazis surrendered to the Americans, which is something of a record. A couple of doughboys disarm a long queue of the foe, who seem only too anxious to lay down all firearms.

SOME OF THE Germans march behind the Nazi flag on their way to give up. This group has no rifles.

BIKES, AMBULANCES and field kitchens are utilized as transportation by the beaten, war-weary Germans.

QUITE cheerful about it all, these young Nazis prop their feet on an ice cream cart, light cigarettes and forget about the hard battle which led to capture. The bag of 20,000 Germans didn't cost an American life.

Canada's Standard Smoke

A SHARP-SHOULDERED AA gun, which was to have defended the Nazi fatherland against air attack, has been left undefended by the defeated "Supermen." Storming Allies found this ack-ack bearing a white sheet on its barrel when they entered Belgium. Canadians quickly converted the German weapon to repel sporadic thrusts from the Luftwaffe. Nazi propaganda had boasted the steel forts in Belgium were impregnable, but this kill of prisoners proved otherwise. Before the terms of surrender had been completed the surging troops of General Montgomery were still farther. The real test was the Siegfried line, then Berlin.

SPECTACULAR AUTO ACCIDENTS TAKE SERIOUS TOLL

THE MECHANIC scratches his head in perplexity over the problem of getting a bucking auto back on the level again. It swerved off a parkway in Washington, D.C., and after climbing a light standard stuck there, like a scared cat up a tree.

THREE vehicles tangled in this mix-up which created a snarl hard to unravel. A gas truck collided with two cars but fortunately its contents did not catch on fire. The driver, however, suffered a brain concussion. This is one time when a truck fared worse than the lighter passenger cars, though these had little salvage value. The one not in view had more damage than the one that is visible. This accident took place on a Long Island wide thoroughfare.

ALL ENDED BADLY when this truck collided with a street car and an "El" pillar. The driver was burned to death and 40 trolley passengers were shaken up.

THIS TRUCK acted like a robot bomb and laid open this residence in Norristown, Pa. There was no one in bed at the time but seven persons suffered injuries.

THE TOP automobile was a casualty after a Cheyenne store collapsed when there were 50 persons inside. One woman was killed and 11 were injured. The driver of the auto fortunately was absent, as it would seem he could not possibly have escaped either death or serious injury. Five men, however, were killed in the car underneath when it collided head-on with a bus. It was a four-door sedan and was hurled 100 feet from the point of contact. Of the dead, two were U.S. sailors and three were soldiers and the only clue to their identity was the official tags they carried. Their car assuredly breaks all records for complete destruction. The bus driver was arrested for dangerous driving and his two passengers miraculously escaped without injury.

WOMEN PROVE SKIN REGAINS ELASTICITY

How often a woman wishes... that her face looked as young as her shoulders. You see, shoulders stay smooth, soft, elastic—while faces have pores clogged with make-up, unable to breathe for hours at a time. And when pores can't breathe, skin becomes wrinkled and prematurely aged. But this needn't happen to your complexion. Palmolive offers a broad way to help keep it young and lovely.

You can look younger in 14 days! Each time you wash, (use a face cloth) massage warm, rich, soothing Palmolive lather thoroughly into your skin for... one full minute. Now, a quick rinse and pat dry. Palmolive's 60-second Beauty Massage has been scientifically tested by 2,501 women and 36 doctors. Their reports prove conclusively that... in just 14 days, it brings lovelier complexions.

THIS GASOLINE truck, loaded to full capacity of 1,000 gallons, became the funeral pyre of its driver when it overturned after going out of control, owing, it was presumed, to a blowout. At the end of its zigzagging it struck the car parked at the left. The driver of this, a woman, stopped and managed to get out in time.
